FLORA GRAY IS GIVEN DIVORCE

Judge Blair Returns a Decision After Having Case Under Advisement
For Two Weeks.

SHE IS GIVEN $9,300 ALIMONY

Granted Custody of Two Younger Children and $25 For Their Support.

Mrs. Flora Gray of Union township received this afternoon a Christmas gift in the form of a divorce from her husband, John Gray, $9,300 alimony, custody of the younger boy and girl and twenty-five dollars a month for their support. Judge Blair read his verdict in open court just before the close of this term's business and he commented on the case to some extent.

Judge Blair based his verdict in regard to the alimony on an old decision of the supreme court, one, which he said, had been adhered to ever since it had been rendered. This decision is in effect that when there is reason to give a woman a divorce she should be left in as good a condition financially as she would be were she a widow.

Judge Blair declared that he believed the valuation of the land in the Gray farm had been overdrawn by both the plaintiff's and defendant's witnesses. He took a mean average of the highest and lowest estimates and decided that $120 an acre is a fair valuation for the land. It is on this estimate that he based his alimony.

Immediately after the court had finished giving his verdict, attorneys for John Gray said that they would pray for a new trial. The court instructed them to have the motion ready by the first of the next term of court.

The court said he thought it best to place the two younger children in the custody of Mrs. Gray and the oldest child, Margaret in the custody of her father. It will be remembered that in the trial Margaret revealed that she favored her father. During the school year Mr. Gray is to pay Mrs. Gray twenty-five dollars a month for the support of the children and in the summer vacation they are to be under the care of Mr. Gray. Judge Blair made this last ruling, he said, because he believed it would be better, for the boy especially, to be on the farm as much as possible.

The court gave practically all of the household goods to Mrs. Gray. He enumerated the list which rightfully belonged to her and among those were works which she had painted and her painting paraphernalia.

"It is unfortunate," said the court when he began to render the verdict, "that such a thing as this should come up in court. It is sad, indeed. The evidence shows that they lived together for twenty years and it seems that at this age they should begin to think more of one another rather than less."

The court pointed out that the evidence showed that the defendant did not treat the plaintiff kindly. He declared that he did not wish to hurt anyone's feelings, but that he found only one thing against the plaintiff, the fact that the evidence showed she wore hats and jewelry belonging to the Deeters woman after this woman was alleged to have been intimate with Gray. In light of the evidence the court said he could not account for that unless it is the same trait exhibited by a murderer, who has a strange fascination for the spot where he committed the crime.

Judge Blair asserted Mrs. Gray is entitled to a divorce on the testimony of her daughter Margaret alone who

WORK OF SALVATION ARMY.

Inmates of County Institutions Will Be Remembered With Big Dinners as Usual.

Christmas will not be found wanting in many Rushville homes Monday, for local charitable organizations have seen to it that there will be a copious amount of it for every unfortunate and poor family in the city. The local corps of the Salvation Army and the Daily Republican Santa Claus fund will bring cheer into many desolate homes and there are many notable cases of charity bestowed by individuals who do not wish to have their names made public.

The Salvation Army is doing a notable work this year. The Army announced its intention several weeks ago of giving out five hundred dinners Monday. The workers set this as their goal and it is not likely that they will fall short of the mark.

The fact that the local workers are especially industrious is revealed by the fact that Salvation Army corps in surrounding cities did not set out to do half so much. For instance, at Columbus the Army will give out only three hundred dinners and there are no corps in cities in this section of the State which are doing so much as the corps here.

Besides distributing food the workers will have much wearing apparel which they will give to the poor Christmas day. They will remember the children also and have arranged for them a treat which will be given at the Salvation Army church in Pearl street Wednesday night. Toys, candy and clothes will be presented to them at that time.

The people of the city have responded liberally so as to make the work of the Army possible. Many of the lodges of the city gave five dollars donation to help the work and many individual gifts were made. The wagon gathering up the stuff donated to the Army was busy today and indications were that the Army would not fall far short of the mark set.

The Daily Republican Santa Claus fund will reach three hundred children in Rushville. The gifts will be distributed Christmas morning. Gifts will go into approximately one hundred and fifty homes.

The inmates of the county institutions will be given the usual extra Christmas dinner. At the county asylum will be served a duck dinner with all of the "trimmings" which go to make a Christmas dinner.

The county jail prisoner will also be given an extra "feed" Monday. There are six in jail now and it is highly probable that all of them will spend Christmas day there. Mrs. Behont is preparing to give them a dinner that will cause them to recall that it is Christmas day.

The other institutions in which Rush county is interested will have large dinners for the inmates Christmas day. Dispatches say the wards of the State at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' home, north of Carthage will have a merry Christmas dinner next Monday. A chicken dinner and several Christmas trees, in addition to a musical program by the Home band are on the program.

Miss Cora Shelly, matron of the Henry-Rush Orphans' home, is planning a merry Christmas for her wards. A big dinner will be served Christmas day and candy, fruits and nuts will be provided for the enjoyment of the youngsters.

MANY MARRIAGE LICENSES

County Clerk Issues Large Number in Last Two Days.

Judging from the number of marriage licenses issued today and yesterday, Christmas time is becoming as popular as the month of June. The county clerk has been busy the last two days issuing licenses. A list of those issued, not including two or three marked "don't publish" is as follows: Edward Gahimer and Roxie Jones; Samuel Sharp and Clarissa B. Mann; Earl W. George and Ida M. Stevens; Everett F. Botteroff and Mate E. Whaley; Irwin H. Booth and Nora May Grubbs; Grover C. Smith and Julia Rhodes; Sylvester W. McKibben and Elsie A. Higgins.

CHASES FAMILY FROM HOME

John Borem, living south of the city, yesterday, according to the police, took on a little too much booze while in the city and when he reached home started a "rough house" and ran his family from the house.

Borem was crazy drunk as was evidenced by his acts. He removed his clothing and touched a match to them. When the fire got a good start Borem jumped into the center of the flames and was saved from death by his son. Not content with this, he secured a razor and attempted to cut his throat. The son again came to the rescue and saved his father by taking the razor away from him. The police here were notified to be on the watch for him as he started towards this city to have his son arrested because he had taken the razor. Borem never showed up and the officers learned that he returned home.

Automobiles in which to deliver the gifts purchased with the Daily Republican Santa Claus fund is now the pressing need. So far no one has volunteered the use of their car to speed the Christmas cheer although appeals have been made for them. Last year Rushville men gave the use of their machines willingly, and free of charge, for this charitable purpose.

The gifts will be loaded in the conveyances in the alley back of the Palace theater early Monday morning and it is hoped that enough will be provided so that all of the packages may be placed in the arms of the anxious and waiting children before the sun has gone far in its daily course.

The close of the fund this year was a grand and glorious one. It excelled all other years in the history of the fund. Early in the season the prospects for the fund were far from bright and it appeared that it would be a miserable failure, but the good people of the city responded nobly to the appeals for help. This year the fund is $24.02 larger than it was last year and $26.86 larger than it was two years ago.

The Psi Iota Xi sorority helped swell the fund today with their annual candy exchange, for its benefit, held at the Maud Wolcott millinery store.

Yesterday evening Wallace Beer, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beer, opened the box which he placed in his home several days ago and gave the whole amount to the fund. Yesterday was his seventh birthday.

IN JAIL OVER CHRISTMAS

Sam Webb Awakens After Pleading
Not Guilty.

Sam Webb was arraigned before Mayor Black last night on a public intoxication charge and pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and Webb was taken back to jail. Since pleading not guilty he has decided that he does not want to spend Christmas in jail and is ready to plead guilty, but the mayor says "nothing doing." Since he sobered Webb can't see the extra days in jail and would take no more of the officer's time, but plead guilty as he should have done at first.

SECRET WEDDING BROUGHT TO LIGHT

William H. Schrader and Miss Minnie
Stanley Have Been Married
Since October 28.

KNOWN ONLY A FEW DAYS AGO

A college romance, ending in a secret marriage was brought to light a few days ago. The parties were Miss Minnie Philomene Stanley, daughter of Mrs. Frances Stanley of West Lafayette, and William H. Schrader, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Schrader of north of this city. The marriage occurred on October 28 and was performed in Frankfort by the Rev. A. L. Odell. The wedding was carefully planned and not even their closest friends knew of it. Mr. Schrader met Miss Stanley in Lafayette, while attending Purdue University, from which institution he graduated in 1910. After spending the holidays in the East, Mr. and Mrs. Schrader will return to Pittsburgh, where they will reside.

DRAWER "BANK" UNSAFE.

New Castle Courier: The bureau drawer "bank" conducted by Mrs. John W. Roberts at her home at 930 South Twenty-second street, proved an unsafe place for depositing the savings of her husband as the "bank" was robbed Tuesday night of $95, consisting of one twenty-dollar bill, seven-dollar bills and one five-dollar note. A boarder at the house disappeared at the same time.

ALBERT BECRAFT SENT TO PRISON

Convicted Fur Thief is Given Sentence of One to Fourteen Years Today.

WILL BE TAKEN ON TUESDAY

Court Makes Many Rulings Today in Clearing up Business of the Term.

Today Judge Blair sentenced Albert Becraft, who was found guilty of grand larceny by a jury in the circuit court Thursday evening, to a term of one to fourteen years in the State penitentiary at Jeffersonville. The court's sentence was pronounced after attorneys for Becraft had filed a motion for a new trial and it was overruled. Becraft will be taken to prison Tuesday.

Becraft and a pal, Thomas Wilson, were arrested two weeks ago today for stealing furs valued at $80 from the Bowles farm in Center township. Becraft was tried first and found guilty. Wilson was placed on trial and after being out eighteen hours, the jury in the case disagreed and was dismissed yesterday morning. Wilson will be tried again next term.

This morning the case of the State against William Cross and his son, and William Hord, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, was continued on a motion of the defendants' attorneys. It will be remembered that the men went to the former's farm and threatened to annihilate the tenant, and some shots were fired.

In the case of Lawson against the C. H. & D., in which $190 damages was asked for clover which was destroyed in a field of the plaintiff by fire caused from a locomotive spark, and in which a jury rendered more damages than that prayed for by the plaintiff, the court this morning overruled a motion for a new trial, filed by the defendant, on the theory that a jury has no right to give more damages than asked. He gave several opinions to support his verdict.

The court overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of Jessie H. H. Woodfill against Louisa Jones et al. for foreclosure of a mortgage. The case was sent here from Decatur county on a change of venue and was tried last term of court. The plaintiff will likely appeal to the appellate court.

Judge Blair granted a divorce to Persilla Cameron from her husband, Robert Cameron on her cross-complaint. The husband brought suit, the wife filed a cross-complaint and the case was tried early this term, the court taking it under advisement. Mrs. Cameron was given one hundred dollars alimony.

This morning Thomas M. Offutt, who has been engaged in contracting and carpenterwork here for the last few years, was admitted to the bar, and is now a full-fledged lawyer.

Four criminal suits were dismissed. That of the State against Charles P. Lightner of Arlington, charged with public intoxication in a grand jury indictment, was nolleed on a motion of the prosecuting attorney. The indictment was the outgrowth of a quarrel at the I. & C. station here last county fair week, when Lightner was ejected from a car by the crew. He brought suit against the I. & C. for two thousand dollars damages and the dismissal of that suit by him recently was followed by the present action of the State.

The case of the State against Jasper Parish, marshal of Carthage, charged on an affidavit of an illegal arrest of young men living near Sexton, was quashed on the motion of Prosecutor O'Neil. People of Car-

CLUB SCORES IN CONCERT HERE

Indiana University Organization En-

AT BEST IN COLLEGE MEDLEY

Don Herold, Chalk and Monologue
Artist, and Fred Durham, Imitator,
Are Well Received.

The Indiana University glee club scored a distinct triumph at the Main Street Christian church last night and the club was ably assisted by two very bright and shining lights, Don Herold, cartoonist and monologue artist, and Fred Durham, who is an imitator of some ability. He gave several numbers from the "Follies of 1911" in very good style. Both of these men were applauded loudly.

But their work did not overshadow that of the club as a whole. It is a very creditable organization and forecasts that musical organizations in Indiana will not be wanting in the future. For the last few years there has been no glee club in the State school and it was revived after several years have elapsed since the last club made its annual tour. The club is under the direction of John L. Geiger of Indianapolis, who has had the Wabash college glee club in charge for several years.

The club probably made its biggest hit with the college medley, as arranged by the director. It consisted of many favorite tunes so arranged as to make a very happy collection which the college men rendered to good effect. They forsook their dress suits for this number and they lounged about on the stage in a careless manner and in the proverbial college garb, coats off and sleeves to their elbows. They responded to two encores and each one was as effectual as the original.

The club created a good impression with its first number, "Winter Song," by Ballard. They were applauded to the echo and responded with an encore of a pleasing nature. The quartet, which it must be said is not as good a combination as the club itself, sang "Water Lilies," by White, and was compelled to answer with another song. Merl S. Scott, who possesses a rare tenor voice, sang "The Secret" and he, as all of the others, had to come back in order to abate the applause. The club sang "Shoozy Shoo" in a creditable style and the encore was a very enjoyable number. The melody of "Rubenstein" which was to have been played on the violin and cello by Leonard W. Mace and Byron Cowin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cowing of this city, was omitted. Possibly the most entertaining as well as unique feature of any college glee club program was the work of Don Herold, a monologist and chalk artist of considerable ability, who appeared at the close of the first part. He created some merriment by hastily drawing a red head, a big pipe, a little college hat and a little man under it and writing under the work the inscription, "Skeets" Maury. This was followed by a big hat and furs which hid a little girl and this picture, Mr. Herold meant to be "His Sister," which was written under it. Scott Buell, another local Indiana student, was pictured as a football hero by the chalk artist. Mr. Herold drew a good likeness of the proverbial "Prexy" and closed with a picture of "Tabby" Scott, the club's tenor.

But Mr. Herold's chalk work was no better than his line of talk which he interspersed between pictures. He explained some of the traditional figures in college life, talked of the various college indoor sports, including college "cases," in characteristic

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to-day, and notice the difference after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Recalls That Christmas Was Once Heathen Festival Day

"Speaking of Christmas," said a local man this morning who reads much, "I don't know exactly what I will get for the family this year. Never having time to get off long enough to become married, I am still a bachelor, but I have a nice little girl I call on when I get a Sunday off. It seems to me that she has about everything a young lady could wish for, and that makes it pretty hard for me. But that's an old story of course. Every shopper you meet imagines that he or she has the hardest time on earth picking out presents, that the particular person to be remembered is the hardest thing possible to suit.

"I have thought of furs, but that won't do. She has a watch, a nice bracelet, a glittering necklace and a couple of umbrellas. I haven't got the money to purchase a diamond ring or an automobile. I disapprove of cameras because they lead to extravagance and I detest poodle dogs on general principles, so there you are. I have been advising everybody to shop early, but as for myself, well I am going to put it off until the last moment, and then rush into a department store with my eyes shut and purchase the first thing I happened to lay my hands on. I can make as good a guess that way as any other and after all it is the spirit in which the gift is sent and not the present itself, which makes it acceptable.

"But speaking of Christmas, of course we all know that the festival had been set aside to commemorate the birth of Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world. But did you know that the celebration of December 25 was originally a heathen festival? Well that is the truth.

"Among the early Teutonic tribes the winter solstice was supposed to be a time for special rejoicing, as it was then, so they thought, that the earth received new life. The regen-rating for the spring season was thought to take place then, and in honor of the fact there was great feasting, drinking and rejoicing for twelve days commencing on December 25. I suppose there were some choicest headaches and dark brown tastes among the Teutons when that celebration was concluded. And judging from appearances each Christmas we are forced to believe that there are some of the direct descendants of the old pagans in Rushville even yet.

"Bede in one of his old stories tells us that before the Christians landed in Britain, the inhabitants had a feast on December 25, which they called the Mothers' Festival. The name, he said, was derived from some of the ceremonies performed late in the night. But Bede has failed to tell us what these ceremonies were, for Mr. Bede was very orthodox and didn't like to relate any of the doings of the pagans when he could side-step.

"When December 25-came to be known as Christmas the leaders in the Christian church sought to divert the minds of the lowbrows from the pagan customs, by making the day thoroughly Christian. For this reason Christmas dramas, Christmas sermons and Christmas carols were invented and the customs of giving away gifts was established to typify the feeling of charity and brotherly love as taught by Christianity.

"The habit of giving Christmas gifts is common only in the countries which are of Teutonic origin. The Latin countries have the custom of making presents on New Year's day.

"A great many authorities are of the opinion that December 25, is not the real birthday of Jesus Christ. This date, they claim, came in the rainy season of Judea, at a time when the shepherds could hardly have been watching their flocks on the plains after night. The date of the nativity by some writers is fixed as late as May. The church in the west adopted December 25 as the official date of the birth of Christ very early, and the Eastern church finally followed this lead.

"The earliest identification of December 25 as the birthday of Christ is found in a passage attributed to Theophilus of Antioch and it is supposed to have been written in the year 171. It was to the effect that the Gauls contended that the birth of the Lord was celebrated on December, no matter what the date of the week might be. Hippolytus in the year 202 wrote that Jesus was born December 25, in the forty-second year of Augustus, but no feast for that date is mentioned. Origin in the year 245 wrote repudiating the idea of celebrating the birthday of the Christ as though He had been a King Pharaoh.

"As early as the year 400 imperial edicts were issued making Christmas one of the three feast days on which the theaters had to be closed. The other holidays were Easter and Epiphany."

Christmas==The One Big Day Of Whole Year is Almost Here

It's Christmas time. The big day of all the year is close at hand. What are you going to do about it?

Have you ever stopped to think, Mr. Busyman, how little of real good you are doing in the world? You are busy making money, hoarding up the lucre that men sacrifice health, life, blood and honor for, and you haven't time to think of less important things. Less important things, you say. But are they?

Have you ever paused for a moment to measure your responsibility? Has it never occurred to you that, inasmuch as responsibility is measured by opportunity and capacity, you may have something to answer for?

You are comfortably fixed, perhaps, with this world's goods. When you pass along the street they may point you out and say, "There goes the wealthiest man in town." You may have houses and lands, stock in the bank and cash on deposit, and perhaps even some government bonds, that it may keep you busy clipping the coupons from.

You realize what people say of you, and it makes you feel your oats. You are impressed with your own importance in the community in which you live.

And by this vulgar standard you measure your influence!

But ought you to be content with that? Do you call that real living?

It's Christmas time. The great day is close at hand.

You will have your children and your children's children around the old home hearth. In the morning there'll be happy times, for the gifts that go with love and blood will be exchanged. At noontide there will be a dinner at the board, and all will be merry with Christmas cheer in that comfortable, or perhaps splendid home of yours.

Will your doors be shut tight? Can any of that cheer get out?

Over yonder, perhaps two, may be three doors, or a block away, is a little home. You'd call it a hovel, and so it is compared with yours. But there are hearts beating there. Perhaps they're childish hearts, that already are full of happiness expecting Santa Claus. But, on that great morning their stockings hang limp and empty. Santa didn't come. There are tears of bitter disappointment on the little cheeks, aching hearts within the little breasts.

Is there a Santa Claus, they ask? Their faith in God is shaken.

Those empty stockings! You could have filled them.

Why didn't you do it? Didn't you think, or did you think too much—of you filthy dollars? Say, old man, thaw out! Do something for your kind other than you kin.

What is it Holy Writ says about the talent? What kind of return are you going to make with yours?

It's Christmas time.

Stop and think what you are doing to make somebody happy, to spread a little Christmas cheer, to make folks think you have in your heart "peace on earth and good will toward men."

Didn't He for whom this festival is named say "inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these —ye have done it unto Me?"

You're not such a bad fellow but— Thaw out! Bubble over. Cut a great big hole in that mask of selfishness and leave the ragged edges on it to show that you meant business. Then loosen your heart strings—and your purse strings—and make somebody happy who won't be happy unless you make them so.

Don't satisfy your conscience with the old-clothes, second-hand kind of thing, but make it genuine.

Try it, and, mark you, it'll be the happiest Christmas you ever spent.

Lowly Penny Goes the Big Dollar One Better

A dollar and a penny once happened to be together in the same pocket, and the dollar began to put on airs. "I am a big gun," said the dollar "and you are nobody. I am white and bright and you are only a dull, mud-colored little Indian. I am religious for I am all the time saying, 'In God we trust,' and you are only a pagan. I am patriotic, for on one side I have the American Eagle, and on the other the Goddess of Liberty, and I buy lots of fireworks on the Fourth of July.

"I am heavenly-minded, for I have the stars to think about, and you don't have anything. I am preferred.

May be restored to health and beauty by washing it with Mrs. Mason's Old English Shampoo Cream. It cleanses the scalp, restores lustre, gloss to the hair and promotes wonderful growth. Try it just once. 25c. a tube at F. B. Johnson & Co., and other druggists.

The best plaster. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on over the affected parts is superior to a plaster and costs only one tenth as much. For sale by All Dealers.

For I am nice bright silver, and everybody wants me; but you are the base copper, and nobody cares a snap for you." "That all may be so," said the poor little penny. "You may be more patriotic than I am, and more religious than I am, but I go to church more than you do and am found in the contribution box oftener than you are."

ADVISE ON CASE.

The State board of Medical examination yesterday afternoon heard evidence on complaints against Dr. Charles W. Pagel, formerly of St. Paul, Decatur county, now of Milford, Ill., and Dr. Earl D. Jewett of St. Paul, both of whose licenses have been assailed, one by the other, and took the cases under advisement.

GAINED LITTLE REAL EVIDENCE

Rumors of the Work of Federal Grand Jury.

THE DYNAMITING CONSPIRACY

In Reliable Quarters It is Rumored That the Inquisitors Who Are Investigating the McNamara Case at Indianapolis Have Obtained Plenty of "Moral" but Very Little "Legal" Evidence Against the "Higher-Ups."

Indianapolis, Dec. 23.—The federal grand jury investigating the McNamara case here has obtained plenty of "moral," but very little "legal" evidence against "higher-ups" outside of the Iron Workers' union in the dynamiting conspiracy, according to rumors from reliable sources.

The federal grand jury has, during the nine days it has been in session, carefully gone over the investigation as a general proposition, classifying evidence with the aid of a comparatively small number of witnesses directly connected with the developments in the case immediately surrounding the arrest of the two McNamaras and McManigal.

The federal authorities welcome the adjournment of the investigation until Jan. 3 because it gives them an opportunity to consider quietly the legal evidence in hand against "higher-ups," not only in labor organizations, but elsewhere as well. This vacation time the authorities will devote to going over the evidence and deciding just whom their efforts to indict best may be directed against.

There is, it is said, plenty of "moral" evidence against a large number of "higher-ups" who probably never will be indicted.

The federal grand jury is in possession of evidence showing that important records of the Structural Iron Workers were taken from the office in the Central Life building and were shipped from the city two days after the arrest of J. J. McNamara and the seizure of a part of his correspondence by local detectives. It is said that the grand jury will at once begin a quest for these records, but there is little doubt, if they are as important as supposed, that they have already been destroyed.

WAITING FOR HIM

If Apkins Gets Off in Kentucky, Indiana Authorities Will Take Him.

Richmond, Ind., Dec. 23.—The Wayne county grand jury returned an indictment of forgery against Peter Paul Apkins, now in jail at Lexington, Ky., charged with the murder of his wife. Apkins was arrested here last summer on the forgery charge, and it developed that he had married a Richmond woman shortly before his marriage in Kentucky. He abandoned both wives, and the woman he married in Kentucky died, as alleged, as a result of being drugged by Apkins. Should he be acquitted of the murder charge at Lexington he will be returned here to answer the forgery charge.

Copper Thieves Busy.

Hammond, Ind., Dec. 23.—Police are actively engaged in tracking a number of copper thieves who robbed the plants of the Indiana Steel company at Gary, and the Universal Cement company at Bluffton, of a large quantity of copper wire. The booty, valued at $1,000, was taken to Tolleston, re-shipped to Valparaiso and then cut up and carried to Chicago, where it was sold to junk shops.

Didn't Use All of Appropriation.

Lebanon, Ind., Dec. 23.—The new Boone county courthouse has been accepted by the county commissioners. The county officers have begun to move in and all will be located in the new structure by the first of the year. The building will be dedicated next June. The building, inclusive of furnishings and decorative effects, cost $263,000. This sum is $2,000 less than the appropriation.

Worried Over Financial Troubles.

Winchester, Ind., Dec. 23.—D. F. Irvin, owner of the Irvin theater in this city, committed suicide at his home here by shooting himself through the heart with a shotgun. Irvin was formerly a saloon keeper, but was forced out of business when the county voted "dry." Worry over financial troubles is said to be the cause of his act.

Death of Famous Turfman.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 23.—A private telegram received here announced the death at Arcadia, Cal., of John McClelland, the famous turfman and former trainer for Lucky Baldwin. He was sixty-two years old, and a brother of the late Byron McClelland, noted horseman of Lexington.

Costly Elevator Blaze.

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 23.—The Washburn gain elevator, one of the largest in Tippecanoe county, caught fire from sparks from a passing locomotive and was destroyed. The elevator was built thirty-five years ago. It was heavily stocked with grain and the loss is heavy.

Mr. Lee, from Vevay.

(Logansport Journal.)

Further investigation into the causes that led to Edwin M. Lee's connection with the Republican party discloses that he was "discovered" in Vevay, Ind., where he was engaged then, according to the best information obtainable, in the cheerful occupation of burying people in nice silver-plated handled caskets at so much per bury.

This gentleman was the "find" of those who were given complete control of the organization of the Republicans in the last two campaigns.

According to the American Newspaper Annual, Vevay has a population of 1,588; has steamboats (presumably with whistles) plying past its port; and has some "manufacturing." It is rated as "an excellent supply for surrounding points."

The same directory states that "its chief industry is the supply of onions and hay."

Not knocking Vevay at all — it is a most interesting little river town — or its undertakers, who probably are all very competent persons, is there any reason why a man "discovered" there (who since the "discovery" has not even been able to "discover" any party victories) should consider his personal grudge a paramount issue to the party?

Another correspondent wrote us today to inform us that after so much ado yesterday in explaining the meaning of aesthetic, the word was spelled esthetic. For that we ask forgiveness. told of her mother's words after she was driven from home, and who recited at school to her playmates how her mother was treated. The court read this testimony. He pointed out the evidence showed Gray called his wife all sorts of vile names and declared that Mrs. Gray did not appear to be a woman who would come into court and swear to just facts for a few paltry dollars.

Mrs. Gray asked for $15,000 in her complaint and later asked for $5,000 more in an amended complaint. The hearing which ended two weeks ago attracted considerable attention as both Mr. and Mrs. Gray are well known.

RILEY STEWART FINED BY SQUIRE

And Most of Night in Front of a Saloon.

PLEADED GUILTY TO CHARGE

Riley Stewart of Orange pleaded guilty to the charge of cruelty to animals this morning in Squire Kratzer's court and paid a fine of one dollar and costs amounting to $11. Stewart has been guilty of cruelty to animals on several different occasions and only recently the police found his rig at a rack and the horse was suffering from the cold. Yesterday he left his horse standing in front of a West Second street saloon from eleven o'clock in the morning until ten-thirty o'clock last night. Chief McAllister and Policeman Wolters warned him and gave him ten minutes to put the horse in a barn or drive home and Stewart refused. It is the first case of its kind ever before Squire Kratzer, but the police promise it will not be the last as they will enforce the law against all offenders.

WANT ADS BRING RESULTS.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

"Please correct the statement which you made in last night's paper to the effect that we had no sub-clerk." We have Lon Kennedy working and the business could not be properly transacted without his very able assistance."

The above communication was received at the Daily Republican office this morning from Clarence Cross, postal clerk at the local office. The Republican is now humble, very humble. It never intended in all its long life to commit such a gross error. Reporters have been given a "packing-up" for overlooking such a big bet. They—that is the one who is on the postoffice "run"—are willing to admit now that the fact was overlooked that "Lonnie" is putting in some eighteen or twenty hours a day without a murmur.

You know "Lonnie" is a regular rural mail carrier and an irregular postal clerk. He likes the open-air work much better than being cooped up in an old close room where he has to smell Clarence Cross' strong pipe. But then Lon sacrifices his ideals and works inside during the holidays. He stands the pipe as well as any man, who don't smoke, could, and works on faithfully, hour by hour, and day by day.

Yea, verily, as Mr. Cross avers, the business of the postoffice at Christmastide could not be transacted without his very able assistance.

was opened with the college medley mentioned above, and was followed by Fred Durham's imitations of Bert Williams, the famous negro comedian. Playing his own accompaniment, he sang "Dat's Harmony," in characteristic Williams style. The audience was not content with that and he had to respond with "Woodman, Spare That Slippery Elm Tree," another of Williams' songs in the "Follies" this year. He had to appear for a third song, and when the crowd insisted, again, he sang "Ephriham," the song which Fanny Brice sang in the "Follies." Mr. Durham's work was exceptionally good. He is the club's pianist.

The quartet gave "Jolly Blacksmith's Lay," by Geibel and then sang an encore. Wayne Hamilton, basso soloist, sang the Turnkey's song from "Rob Roy," and responded with the same thing. The club appeared in cap and gown in the last number and sang "Old I. U.," as arranged by the director. In response to the applause the club sang the college song, "Hail to Old I. U."

The club ended its holiday tour here last night. This morning the members went to Indianapolis and will witness the performance of "The Pink Lady" at English's.

The Palace will have for the Saturday night program a Reliance and a Flying A film. The Reliance picture, "A Mixup in Suitcases" is a comedy-drama and is said to be up to the standard of these popular pictures. The Princess offers two Kalem pictures for tonight's program. "The Smugglers" is a thrilling production made on the rocky shore of southern California and tells of a Chinese industry on the Pacific coast. "The Mistress of the Hacienda Del Cerro" is an interesting photoplay telling the story of an American settler in the pioneer days of the west. The story is based upon an actual occurrence which happened in 1852 in the region near the boundary line between southern and lower California and the Colorado river. Case Involving $5000 Alimony Ended in Circuit Court This Morning by Motion of Plaintiff.

The divorce suit of Mrs. Clara Matney against Elijah Matney was dismissed this morning on a motion by the plaintiff. The suit was filed December 14 and Mrs. Matney asked for $5,000 alimony. In the complaint she made several sensational allegations against Matney and charged cruel and inhuman treatment. By the dismissal it is said a reconciliation has been effected between the couple and no further action will be taken. The case was to have been tried next term of court.

A rumor that Matney had left the county because of domestic trouble, was unfounded as he returned to his home Wednesday evening. The motion to dismiss was made through Mrs. Matney's attorney, Megee and Kiplinger.

Watch Your Kidneys

Their action controls your health. Read what Foley Kidney Pills have done for your neighbor. J. W. Sharits, of Union City, says, "Over five years I suffered a great deal with my kidneys, having backache so severe that at times I suffered much misery while moving around. My kidney action was frequent, the kidneys being very weak and the secretions cloudy. In the morning on arising had dizzy spells and headaches. I was gradually growing worse when I started taking Foley Kidney Pills. In a short time the backaches left me and the kidneys became strong and their action natural. The headaches and dizziness all left, so that I again feel well and strong. Although 70 years old I am able to do a hard day's work without suffering and discomfort. This was all brought about by Foley Kidney Pills which I gladly recommend." F. B. Johnson & Co.

THE COW PEA AS A HAY CROP WHERE CLOVER HAS FAILED

By A. T. WIANCKO, Chief in Soils and Crops, Purdue Experiment Station
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

A Cow Pea Crop. Yield 5,127 Pounds of Cured Hay Per Acre.

On account of the long continued hot weather during the early part of last summer, many farmers failed to secure a satisfactory stand of clover. This gives rise to two important questions. The one is what shall be done to provide hay for next year and the other is what shall be done with the fields which were expected to be in clover. To put these fields back to a grain crop will spoil the rotation and the loss of the legume will be detrimental to the fertility of the soil. To do without the expected hay crop will be inconvenient.

Both difficulties can be overcome by sowing the fields to cow peas next spring. This will preserve the essential feature in the rotation and also provide an excellent hay crop to take the place of the clover. That the cow pea has the same beneficial effect upon the land and makes as valuable a hay crop as the clover has been abundantly proven, and no one need doubt its practicability.

The accompanying illustration shows a field of cow peas grown for hay on the Purdue farm. The average yield was 5,927 pounds of cured hay per acre. Yields of four tons per acre have been secured and three ton yields are not uncommon. Under average conditions the cow pea may be expected to yield fully as much as clover, and if the crop is cut at the right time and properly cured, its feeding value is considerably higher than that of clover and stock will eat it even more readily. Investigations have shown that a pound of good cow pea hay is worth a pound and a half of clover hay.

We would strongly recommend that this crop be given a fair trial, both for the sake of the land and to provide hay to take the place of clover. It has been the practice of the soils and crop department a number of years to so use the cow pea where the clover fails and the results have been uniformly satisfactory.

The method of procedure is briefly as follows: Prepare the land in the spring as for corn. The earlier the plowing, the better, as then a crop or two of weeds can be destroyed by harrowing at intervals before seeding time. In the latter part of May, or immediately after the corn crop is planted, sow a bushel or a little more of cow pea seed per acre with the wheat drill, using the oats cups and setting the feed as required. About the end of August, cut the crop with a mower, preferably with a side delivery attachment, and after drying for a day or two put up in small cocks where it should be allowed to stand for a few days before putting it in the barn.

Herd Improvement

By H. C. MILLS, Dairy Field Man, Purdue Experiment Station
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

A Herd of Improved Grade Cows.

The need of better dairy stock in Indiana, as well as in other states, is very evident. Recent investigation made by the dairy department of Purdue disclosed the fact that there were herds producing $2.56 worth of butter fat for each $1 worth of feed received, and that other herds produced only $1.20 worth of butter fat from each $1 worth of feed received. A difference of 8 cents in the cost of producing one pound of butter fat was also found between two herds.

When we consider that the average production of dairy cows in the United States is estimated at 150 pounds of butter fat, and that the best records of high producing cows are around 1,000 pounds of butter fat, we may readily see that there is a vast amount of room for the improvement of the dairy stock of the country.

In Indiana there are 200,000 cows that are not making a profit above the cost of the feed they receive and the labor of caring for them. If they could be replaced with cows making a profit of only $5 (and hundreds of good cows are making a profit of $50 and $60), it would mean a million dollars to the state.

There are three methods of selecting dairy animals, as follows:

1. By form or appearance.
2. By pedigree or records of ancestors.
3. By performance, keeping records of the herd's production.

For the average man, the last mentioned method is the best. If selling milk by weight or measure, a record of the amount of milk produced by the animal should be kept. If selling on a butter fat basis the amount of butter fat should be determined by weighing and testing the milk. If the milk is weighed and tested for two days in each month and this result taken as an average for the month, very close results for the year may be obtained.

The first step in the improvement of a herd is proper feed. No cow, good or poor, will produce results without proper feed and care. Equally important with proper feeding is the providing of adequate dairy barns. When the above mentioned steps have been taken, the cows not responding by increased production should be replaced by better ones. The securing of good cows to replace the better ones sometimes proves difficult. The best method of securing them is to breed the best cows in the herd to a good pure-bred dairy sire, and raise the heifer calves.

In case the herd is too small to make the owning of a male practicable, breeding associations may be formed by the dairymen of the community.

The buying of a dairy sire is an important step. If we buy a young sire, we must depend on the pedigree of the animal. We should base our judgment of the animal upon the record of the near ancestry, the dam and grand-dam, rather than upon that of some noted ancestor several generations back. The safest plan is to buy an animal old enough to have heifers in milk. We then have a means of determining the animal's ability of producing heifers of large capacity for milk production.

The senior students in Dairying at Purdue attended the National Dairy Show at Chicago. The trip was especially valuable to these men, who are specializing in dairy work, for they came in contact with the best in dairy lines at this show and were able to learn much of practical value.

'Tis the week before Xmas
But that's nix-come arouse
Our family washing
Was not done in the house
Everything is tidy
And everything is neat.
We have nothing to worry,
Our temper is sweet.
We don't have to dig in
And scrub all the week
To prepare for old Santa's
Annual peek.
He will find us all ready
When ere he appears.
We will not be behind
As in former years.
Times are progressing,
We are glad this to hear

Even Santa rides an airship
Instead of a deer.
So we dare not be slothful
But quick and alert,
We are standing here ready,
Clean, sweet, free from dirt.
Old Santa will welcome
The sight that he sees.
He will ask many questions
"Oh, tell, won't you please?"
"Why is it that mamma
Is not tired and worn out?"
"Why is it my papa
Don't groan 'bout his gout?"
The reason is just this
For the change that you see,
We now send our washing
To a Sanitary Laundree.

REPUBLICANS TO REORGANIZE

Secretary of Interior May be Chief Orator at Midwinter Banquet to be Held by Editors.

IMPORTANCE OF 1912 FIGHT

Voters Are Asking One Another How Best Results May be Obtained at This Time.

Indianapolis, Ind., December 23.—Indiana Republicans are preparing for the coming campaign. As time goes on voters are more and more impressed with the tremendous importance of the 1912 fight with all the important state issues made and forced by the Democrats and by the forces that now control the Indiana Democratic organization, the further weight of the presidential issue makes the approaching battle significant in a large sense. There is a marked interest in the coming reorganization of the Republican party in Indiana.

The voters are asking one another what is best to be done, and how best results may be obtained. There is a general and sincere desire to do the thing that is best for the party and for the people. The issues are fraught with menace to the public well-being.

Indiana Democrats in congress have made the issue plain to the people. They propose to make the fight against the principle of protection to American industry. They propose to fight for a tariff-for-revenue-only. They propose to carry forward the destructive work they did at the special session and in the same way. They simply reflect the demands and purposes of the Democratic caucus at Washington, D. C. So the question is bluntly placed before the Indiana voter. Does the Indiana voter desire another trial of the Democratic idea of a tariff-for-revenue-only?

Does the Indiana voter wish to put in power a party that pledges itself to destroy the protective policy at a time when all other powerful nations on earth have adopted that policy? Does the Indiana voter desire to permit destructive Democrats to put this nation absolutely at the mercy of the other protection countries of the world? How is this nation to get concessions abroad unless it maintains protective schedules on which to trade with other protection nations? Where is reciprocity possible without protection as a basis for exchange?

The Democrats, out of their own mouths, offer destruction, uncertainty, chaos and famine, just as they provided those things in 1892. If state issues were lacking for 1912, the people of Indiana yet would have plenty to give them pause in the immense menace of national danger to be seen in the Democratic position.

Indiana Republican editors, in mid-winter banquet at the Claypool hotel, Indianapolis, on or about January 28, may hear, Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the interior as chief orator. It is said that the editors left in the hands of National Committee man Henry S. New the matter of getting a national figure orator for the editorial banquet. It is said Mr. Fisher, as a former Indiana man, noted as one of the best speakers in Washington life, is the speaker favored by the editors. Fisher, it is said by his close friends and admirers, would make an ideal orator for the big editorial spread. He is being seriously considered, it is said, for the Republican national chairmanship in 1912.

CHARLES W. MILLER.
Government Prosecutor in Indiana Dynamite Cases.

BASES HIS DEFENSE ON "UNWRITTEN" LAW

Charles Miller On Trial at Danville for Murder.

Danville, Ind., Dec. 23.—After having been twice postponed, the trial of Charles Miller of Brownsburg, for the murder of his neighbor, Allie McCaslin, on the morning of August 25, is in progress in the Hendricks county circuit court.

Miller is accompanied in court by his wife and two little daughters, who cling to the father with apparent deep affection. Miller has been in jail here since the day of the murder. It is understood the defense will rely strongly on the higher law plea, and endeavor to show that McCaslin had been paying attention to Mrs. Miller.

The immediate cause of the tragedy was a dispute over a chicken belonging to one of the men, and Miller shot McCaslin as he stood in his back yard.

It is understood the defense will rely strongly on the higher law plea, and endeavor to show that McCaslin had been paying attention to Mrs. Miller.

PAROLE LAW IS NOW 14 YEARS OLD

Statistics Given in Forthcoming Report of Board of State Charities Prove Its Worth.

SUBSTITUTES OLD METHODS

Conditional Releases Granted to Prisoners Still Keeps Them Under Control of the State.

Back of the indeterminate sentence and parole laws of Indiana there is now a history of fourteen years' operation, says an extent from the annual report of the Board of State Charities which will be forthcoming in a few weeks.

The passage of these measures by the General Assembly of 1897 and the establishment of a separate institution for young men offenders were a somewhat late but thoroughly effective step in furtherance of the reformatory treatment of criminals contemplated by the Constitution of 1816. If any argument were necessary to prove the value of these laws as a substitute for the vindictive methods of other days, the statistics which follow would be sufficient.

Up to September 30, 1911, the Reformatory, the State Prison and the Women's Prison had granted conditional releases to 6,291 of their prisoners. Sooner or later the terms of all these prisoners would have expired and they would have left the institution free men and women; but going out as they did under the parole law they remained under the control of the State until they gave satisfactory proof of their reformation and their ability to maintain themselves. By paroling them and exercising over them such supervision as was necessary until they became rehabilitated, the State saved to useful citizenship many who might have continued in criminal ways and become a menace to the public welfare.

The reports to the Board of State Charities indicate that the 6,291 paroled prisoners, 3,596 completed the parole period (never less than a year) to the satisfaction of those in charge, and were released from supervision. An additional 442 were discharged because the maximum limit of their sentence was reached during the parole period. At the close of the fiscal year, 499 were under supervision and reporting to the authorities and 115 had died. These various classes make a total of 4,652. The remaining 1,639 are the failures, those who are known to have broken faith. They constitute 26.05 per cent. of the whole number paroled. Every effort is made by the authorities to apprehend these delinquents. Up to September 30 they had returned 894 to the institutions, but 745 were still at large.

The Reformatory up to the close of the year had paroled 3,805 young men and its unsatisfactory cases numbered 1,000, or 26.51 per cent. Of the 2,304 men paroled from the State Prison, 579 or 25.13 per cent. proved delinquent. The Woman's Prison paroled 182 women, of whom 51, or 28.02 per cent., proved delinquent.

The records show that the system is as great a success financially as otherwise. The maintenance of these men and women in prison a single year would have cost a considerable sum. Only a small part of what the State saved by giving them an opportunity to earn their own living was required for their supervision while on parole. The prisoners themselves during the time they were under supervision reported earnings amounting to $1,716,319.73 and expenses amounting to $1,417,390.76, these reports being certified by their employers. These ex-prisoners, therefore, not only were self-sustaining, but had on hand or due them when they ceased reporting, a total of $298,928.97.

SOME ODDITIES IN SIGNS

They Do Not Mean Just What They Say, but Certainly Attract Attention.

"Teeth extracted while you wait," is the rather superfluous announcement of a dentist; while another advertiser appeals to ladies in this seductive manner: "Ladies having old feathers can be re-dyed and made equal to new." Equally open to misconstruction are the following notices: "All gloves in this window 50c per pair. These won't last long at the price." "Dine here once, and you'll never dine anywhere else;" and "A competent person wanted to undertake the sale of a new medicine that will prove highly lucrative to the undertaker."

But perhaps the best of these ambiguous advertisements is that of a Japanese laundry, which runs thus: "Contrary to our opposite company, we will most cleanly and carefully clean prices as follows: Ladies, $2 per 100; gentlemen, $1.50 per 100. After these one reads without a shock such notices as the following: Under a pair of hob-nailed boots—"Unwearable, $3;" in the window of a small store in Portland—"New milk," and on a card immediately underneath—"our own make."

Izaak Walton.

The customer had waited fifteen minutes for the fish he had ordered. He was very quiet as he sat there, but internally there was a seething.

At the end of the sixteenth minute the waiter, who had been in total eclipse for fifteen minutes and a half, bustled up.

"That fish will be here, sir, in five minutes."

Five minutes elapsed three times. Then the waiter bustled up again.

"The fish will be here, sir, in a minute."

The customer turned to him.

"Tell me," he said quietly, but with a certain emphasis, "what bait are you using?"

Masterpiece of Advertising.

A physician of Montpellier, France, was in the habit of employing a very ingenious artifice. When he came to a town where he was not known, he pretended to have lost his dog, and ordered the public crier to offer, with beat of drum, a reward of 25 louis to whomsoever should bring it to him. The crier took care to mention all the titles and academic honors of the doctor, as well as his place of residence. He soon became the talk of the town. "Do you know," says one, "that a famous physician has come here, a very clever fellow? He must be very rich, for he offers 25 louis for finding his dog." The dog was not found, but patients were.

Slow Progress.

A friend met a youthful and lazy author on the street.
"How is your novel getting along?" he asked.
"Oh, I've begun it," answered the author proudly. The two did not meet again for several weeks. At the next encounter, the friend again asked:
"Well, how's your novel?"
"The author paused a moment."
"Let me see," he said, "where did I tell you I was in it when I saw you the last time?"
"You said you'd begun it," answered the friend.
"Well—I've still begun it," confessed the author, guiltily.

CONGRESS HAS A BIG JOB ON HAND

Nothing Less Than the Undoing of the Money Trust.

RIGHT AFTER THE HOLIDAYS

The Resolutions of Representatives Lindbergh and Humphrey Will Probably Be Brought Into One Broad Enough to Bring the Whole Subject Within the Scope of a Single Investigation on the Part of Congress.

Washington, Dec. 23.—As proposed in the resolutions presented by Representatives Lindbergh and Humphrey of Washington, Republicans, a comprehensive inquiry into the affairs of the so-called "money trust" will be authorized by the Democratic house. A tentative agreement to this effect has been reached by the Democratic house leaders, and Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the committee on rules, is firmly of the opinion that the plan will be ratified immediately after the holidays and carried into effect as soon thereafter as possible.

It is possible that the investigation of the money trust will be conducted by a joint committee of the house and the senate. Conservative Democrats have suggested that the question is too big to be treated in a partisan way, and that whether a joint committee or merely a committee of the house is empowered to make the inquiry, it should be understood at the outset that the investigation is not to be for partisan purposes, but solely to ascertain if there is a money trust which supplies the motive power for most of the other trusts.

Hearings have already been held on the Lindbergh resolution, which provides, in brief, for the creation of a committee of five to ascertain whether there are combinations of financiers or financial institutions, or corporate or other concerns who control the money and credits and through that control operate in restraint of trade and in violation of law.

The Humphrey resolution proposes the creation of a committee to inquire into the operations of the so-called Atlantic pool, a combination of foreign steamship lines, which Mr. Humphrey charges violate the Sherman anti-trust law. In his statement before the rules committee Mr. Humphrey, according to Chairman Henry, presented facts intended to show an affiliation of interests between the "money trust" and the Atlantic pool. So close indeed is this association, Mr. Henry thinks, that the association suggested by the Lindbergh and Humphrey evidence is so close as to warrant the two resolutions being merged into one broad enough to bring both subjects within the scope of a single investigation.

A further hearing on the Lindbergh and Humphrey resolutions will be held before the committee on rules on Jan. 1.

GOT IN TROUBLE

Stock Promoters Given a Year toponder Over Their Ways.

New York, Dec. 23.—The Burr brothers, Shelton C. and Eugene H., along with Charles H. Tobey and Edwin Preston, associated with the Burrs in "Burr Brothers, Incorporated," pleaded guilty in the United States circuit court to an indictment charging them with devising a scheme to defraud by the use of the United States mails, and were sent to Blackwell's Island for a year.

The Burrs, under the three firm names they have used since they first came to New York in 1906, have sold stock in twenty-nine companies. The amount of money which they have taken from an easy public has not been accurately determined. The six "oil" companies which they formed and of which they sold the stock, took in $124,000. The stockholders of one of these companies already are in charge of whatever assets there are. The others have no assets of value, so far as the government investigators have been able to learn. In fact, some of them are in debt and the child-like "investing public" may be assessed for these trifling obligations.

An Italian fleet bombarded the Isle of Safer, and Turkey has protested to the powers at this act.

will best suit papa, mama, brother, sister, sweetheart or pal. Never before was there such a vast range of possibilities in the Christmas line. There were hundreds of things for the man and woman, the boy and girl, and the selection of course, depended a great deal on the size of the purse. It would be difficult to state just what line of Christmas presents was most popular this year. As usual, jewelry was very much in demand. The bracelets and necklaces were more extravagant than ever, rings are coming back into vogue and fancy umbrellas are very good, too. Toilet sets, brushes and combs make fine presents and a number of good ones were shown in Rushville windows. Fur sets in white, black, gray and red fox are very popular and many of them were purchased as Christmas goods. One of the daintiest and less expensive presents is the book. All kinds were shown as usual, from the six best sellers down to the dainty volume of poetry in a Christmas box. There were of course the usual demand for popular novels but standard books of prose and poetry are more in demand every year and many nice sets of books were sold this year. Many men find suitable presents in the furniture line this was overlooked this year. In fact, the demand seemed to be steady in every department.

FIRE DAMAGES MANILLA STORE

Blaze of Unknown Origin Threatens to Destroy Millinery Establishment of Miss Ethel Roller.

LOSS AMOUNTS TO ABOUT $150

Quick Work by Volunteer Brigade
Prevents Spread of Flames—
Owner Formerly of Here.

Fire of unknown origin threatened to do considerable damage in Manilla last night when a blaze was discovered in the millinery store of Miss Ethel Roller, formerly of this city. Miss Roller moved to Manilla from this city about a month ago and many of her friends here will hear of her misfortune with sorrow. She was a milliner in this city.

The fire was discovered about six-thirty o'clock last night by people who happened to be passing the store at that time. They summoned help and extinguished it. The blaze was very stubborn because of the stock on the shelves was light and combustible. The damage will amount to about $150.

The cause of the fire is a mystery. Miss Roller left the store just one-half hour prior to the sounding of the alarm. She left no fires burning and no lights on, and it is impossible to account for the blaze at this time.

When first discovered the fire had gained much headway in the shelving and was consuming lace, straw hats, and other highly inflammable material very rapidly when passersby were attracted to the scene from across the street.

The front door of the store was forced open and the volunteer fire fighters by removing much of the material from in front of the flames succeeded in confining the blaze to one side of the store and about twenty-five or thirty feet of shelving.

The volunteer brigade was forced to pass buckets of water across the street and the stubborn blaze was hard to extinguish. Several men at the front of the line were forced to retreat almost overcome by the intense heat and smoke which filled the room and prevented them reaching the seat of the blaze. The entire town turned out to assist in fighting the fire but for several minutes it was thought the efforts to confine the blaze to the one store room would be unsuccessful.
